"Protect Your Health."

LONDON'S WONDERFUL HORSES.

Anything white in the road is liable to frighten a horse, and in order to get the police horse used to this he has to pass by an elastic tape on which a newspaper flutters backwards and forwards like a paper blowing across the road. The disturbing effects of this "white peril" are soon overcome, and the horses will face a hurricane of paper with impunity. Many other lessons are taught; passing by and through fire and smoke, standing still at level crossings, passing under a railway arch while a train is passing overhead, passing through and standing still in water, feeling the way in deep water, walking up and down stairs, walking up steep banks and sliding down them, road work mounted and dismounted, vehicular traffic and road sense on the Portsmouth Road and at the tram terminus at Hampton Court.

Advanced Work.

The last month is spent in "advanced work," playing pushball, to teach the horse to shove hard as is required in clearing a crowd, jumping anything anywhere, tent pegging, lance, sword and revolver exercises, and the mounted mêlée. In fact, they must be able to go anywhere and do anything with a maximum of confidence and a minimum of fear.

A final course of jumping without wings completes the training, and the horse is then ready for duty. Within a few days he becomes quite familiar with his new surroundings and takes his place in the streets of London.

Shoeing.

Many people cannot understand how it is the London police horse keeps his feet so well, as at times the roadways are as slippery as ice. This difficulty has been partially overcome by the training which has taught the Remount, balance and confidence, and partially by shoeing.

The system in force is to cut the toe, leaving the heel, thus ensuring open heels, sound frogs, a level-bearing surface and a good-shaped sound foot to which a hand-made double-fullered roadway iron shoe is attached. Before the war this system was in force in "The Greys," and was strongly supported by the late Brig-General Charles Bullock Johnson. If this system is strictly observed it is considered that it is necessary only in a few exceptional cases to reinforce nature and efficient shoeing by the use of "gadgets."

In the Metropolitan Police District one finds every variety of road surface—tarmac, composition, concrete, asphalt, stone setts (pave), wood blocks, rubber blocks, granite, tar surface, rough chippings finish and gravel, all these roads are exposed to the sun, heat and rain, in some cases highly polished by the rubber tyres of the many motor-cars using them, in others greasy with the mud brought in by traffic from the provinces. Frequently during a tour of duty in a patrol of 24 hours, and traversing some eight miles, a great variety of weather and roads may be met. Records of these patrols are carefully kept, and on an average they show that one man per fortnight slips up; when it is realized that roughly 7,000 hours per week are spent in patrolling, it will be seen how exhaustive the research and the resulting methods must be.

"Over The Top."

The effectiveness of this training has been abundantly proved on several occasions. On one occasion some offenders attempted to raid an hotel, a mounted officer rode his horse up the steps of the main entrance and kept them at bay until the hall porter pulled across the doorway the iron grill. On another, a loafer stole an umbrella from a car outside a Club in Piccadilly, but was seen by a mounted man, and realizing that he was spotted made for the Park; a chase ensued across the road in and out the traffic, through the pedestrians' gate into the Green Park, over the railings, between the cars, and finally the thief was ridden down opposite Buckingham Palace, where he was arrested. During the General Strike four mounted officers pursued across Clapham Common some strikers who had given endless trouble all the morning. These strikers took what they imagined would be an inviolable sanctuary, inside the enclosure of a piece of ground under repair, and surrounded by a spike fence. From this vantage point, which they considered impregnable, they hurled abuse at the officers, who, to the dismay of the strikers, did not draw rein but went "over the top" and arrested them. Another instance of the capability of the mounted police also occurred in the strike when a riot took place in the Old Kent Road. An omnibus was overturned and set on fire to check the pursuit of the police, but proved ineffectual as they charged past it and routed the mob.

FASCIST ULTIMATUM IN AUSTRIA.

GOVERNMENT PLEDGE TO DISARM BOTH FACTIONS.

Vienna, May 22.—The publication of the terms of the Fascist Homeguards' ultimatum to the Government has created a profound sensation throughout the country. The ultimatum, which expires on Friday, was signed by the chief of the Homeguards, Stedle and Pfriemer, and was personally presented by them to the Chancellor, Herr Schöber, who indicated that at today's meeting of the Cabinet a decision with regard to the ultimatum would be reached. The Chancellor is understood, however, to have reassured that he was pledged to the hit to disarm not only Socialist but also Fascist organizations.

Active preparations are being made by both sides in case the long and bitter struggle for power between the Labour Party and the Fascists should be left to an arbitration of the sword. The Government, however, remains optimistic that such an eventuality will not occur.

The Labour Party leaders have issued an appeal to their followers to remain calm but to be ready to resist to the utmost any Fascist attempt to seize the reins of government, adding that while they, too, are opposed to the Government's plan to disarm all parties, they will only use constitutional means instead of resorting to the use of force as the Fascists have threatened to do.

Cabinet to Ignore Note.

It is understood that the Cabinet has unanimously decided to ignore the Fascist Homeguards' ultimatum which is "considered unworthy of discussion. The Cabinet's decision the Agricultural Party which is staunchly conservative describes the Fascist ultimatum as a piece of intolerable impertinence. Christian Socialist papers, while sympathizing with the aims of the Homeguards, disapprove their methods.

Among the Fascists' demands are the appointment of a Fascist Minister of Interior and Chief of the Vienna Police. It is also demanded that the Socialist guards should all be disarmed.

Confidence in Berlin.

Berlin, May 22.—Political circles have taken a calm view of the events in Vienna. The fact that the Austrian Cabinet was unanimous in agreeing to the Chancellor's proposal to ignore the Homeguards' ultimatum and the belief that the Government enjoys the majority support of the National Council induces the conviction that the Fascist leaders will think twice before plunging the country into civil war in which event they will have both the army and the police against them.

FIVE YEARS FOR A MOTOR CAR THIEF.

COMPANION ATTEMPTS TO ESCAPE.

Five years' penal servitude was the sentence passed at the Middlesex Sessions recently on a 23-year-old motor mechanic, Robert Watson, who pleaded guilty to stealing and receiving two private motor-cars.

With Watson on trial were Albert Andrews, 21, a clerk, and Sidney Briggs, 21, a porter, who pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Andrews received eight months' imprisonment and Briggs six months, hard labour being ordered in each case.

The police described Watson as the ringleader.

Mr. Frederick Levy, prosecuting, said the three men took two girls for a joy ride.

Information about the missing cars, broadcast by Scotland Yard, was picked up by officers in a Flying Squad car.

The Flying squad car chased and overtook the men, who ran away, but were arrested later.

Call for More Severe Law.

Detective-sergeant Ball said Watson was associated with some of the worst motor-car offenders in London, who stole high-speed cars and committed "smash-and-grab" raids.

When Andrews was before the London Petty Sessions on this charge a fortnight ago, he broke away from the police and tried to escape by swimming across the Welsh Harp. He was caught on the other side.

PROHIBITION ISSUE IN AMERICA.

EXAMINATION OF ANTI- SALOON LEAGUE OFFICIAL.

[UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, May 22.—When Mr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, resumed his evidence before the Senate Lobbyist Committee today, Senator J. J. Blaine of Wisconsin read a letter written by Mr. A. C. Graham of Louisville, asking Mr. McBride to arrange an appointment for him with Mr. Samuel E. Collins, a prohibition enforcement officer.

The reading of the letter tended to indicate a peculiar degree of closeness between the Anti-Saloon League and the enforcement authorities, but Mr. McBride declared that he never acted upon this letter in any way.

Senator Blaine also read a letter from Mr. J. W. Brown of Huron, Michigan, requesting Mr. McBride to have Mr. Andrew Mellon of the Treasury Department removed from the Cabinet because, so he declared, former President Coolidge and Mr. Mellon had not enforced the prohibition act properly.

A reply from Mr. McBride was exhibited, in the course of which the superintendent declared that Mr. Brown's attitude was not the right one and expressing the belief that Mr. Mellon had gone as far as his powers permitted.

A "Hot" Election.

A Senate committee will probably investigate the primaries in New Jersey and Alabama, examining the expenditure of candidates.

Particularly hot fights are expected in both states, due to the "wet" and "dry" issue raised in New Jersey by Mr. Dwight Morrow's pronouncement in favour of repeal of the prohibition amendment, and to Senator Thomas Heflin's trouble with the Democratic party in Alabama because he refused to support the Presidential candidacy of former Governor "Al" Smith as a "wet" and a Catholic.

SPECTACULAR FIRE AT LOS ANGELES.

MILLION DOLLARS DAMAGE TO LINER.

[UNITED PRESS.]

Honolulu, May 22.—In one of the most spectacular waterfront blazes ever witnessed here, the Los Angeles Steamship Co. liner City of Honolulu burned at Pier 7 today.

Three-quarters of the vessel was swept by the flames, which did damage estimated at more than $81,000,000.

At 7 p.m., after fire and fire-fighting had gone on for three hours, so much water had poured in that the ship was listing badly and it was feared that there was danger of capsizing.

The City of Honolulu had plied regularly between Los Angeles and Honolulu for about 10 years and is known to many Pacific travellers.

RICH GIRL DISOWNED.

MOTHER WANTS HER TO BE ENGLISH.

Fashionable circles in Cincinnati (Ohio) were recently greatly interested by a family romance.

Mrs. Henrietta Bethell, wife of Brigadier-General Hugh Bethell, late commander of the 2nd British Rhine Brigade, announced that she had disowned her 17-year-old daughter, Marjorie Schiele Bethell.

Miss Bethell, who is a multi-millionaire in her own right, is not the daughter of General Bethell, but the child of Mrs. Bethell's first husband.

The mother's reason for the disownment is "because the girl does not wish to become English."

Court Fight for Guardianship.

The disownment was announced during a Court fight for the custody of the daughter, brought against Mrs. Adolph Hanne, of New York, who brought up the daughter from infancy and has been her guardian.

During testimony, it was revealed that Mrs. Bethell had sought to obtain the custody of her daughter in order to present her at Court in London.

Giving evidence, Marjorie Schiele Bethell, weeping, implored the Court to "let her remain an American girl."

"I don't care for the brilliancy of London society," she said. "I just wish to be an American girl. Please protect me from appearance at European social functions."

When the mother heard this she became enraged, and issued the statement disowning the daughter.

As a result of the mother's action the Court adjourned for a week, in the hope that the mother and daughter may become reconciled.

WRESTLING IN LANCASHIRE.

DISPUTE WITH NATIONAL ORGANISATION.
JUDGE'S ADVICE.

The Lancashire County Amateur Wrestling Association and the National Amateur Wrestling Association were parties to a dispute which came before Mr. Justice Luxmore in the Chancery Division last month. The vice president, the honorary treasurer, and the honorary secretary of the Lancashire County Association claimed against three members a declaration that the Lancashire Association had been expelled from affiliation with the National Association, "not in accordance with the rules, or with natural justice."

Mr. Neville Laski K.C., and Mr. Neeksher appeared for the Lancashire Association and Mr. Beebe for the National Association.

Mr. Laski said that the National Association originated in 1904 and the Lancashire Association in October, 1923, the latter in Manchester. Affiliation with the National Association took place on November, 1923, and on April 22, 1927, a resolution was passed by the National Association purporting to expel the Lancashire Association from affiliated membership. From the time of affiliation until expulsion considerable disputes arose as to the status and powers of the Lancashire Association in relation to the parent body, and once the good offices of the late Mr. Justice Shearman were invoked as arbitrator to bring about a modus vivendi. Unfortunately he did not succeed.

Lancashire Claim.

The Lancashire Association said that the notice of the meeting at which the resolution to expel was passed did not sufficiently specify the business of the meeting, and that however reprehensible their conduct—which was not admitted—they were entitled to be given a proper notice of the meeting and an opportunity of answering the charge against them. In their statement of claim they said that the hon. secretary of the National Association promised the Lancashire Association that on affiliation they would have county control over wrestling in Lancashire, and that the members would have the right to compete in English championships for which the National Association held trophies and in trials for the selection of wrestlers for the Olympic Games.

The expulsion resolution stated that the Lancashire Association had refused to recognise the authority of the National Association. It was alleged that no intimation was given to the Lancashire Association of any such charge, and that they had no opportunity of explaining or defending their conduct.

Shortly after expulsion there was inserted by the National Association in Manchester newspapers a notice to amateur wrestlers as follows: "Amateur wrestlers are cautioned that from the date of this notice anyone taking part in open wrestling competitions for which no permit has been given by the National Amateur Wrestling Association automatically suspends himself and thereby becomes ineligible to take part in amateur competitions in wrestling and other branches of amateur sport." The result was that the Lancashire Association was unable to hold any wrestling competitions or to procure further members.

Old Form of Wrestling.

Mr. Justice Luxmore: Does the expulsion mean that there is no wrestling in Lancashire?

Mr. Laski said he thought that the National Association carried on wrestling.

The Judge remarked that the trouble seemed to be about nothing at all.

Mr. Laski agreed. The defence to the action, he said, was that the Lancashire Association had persistently repudiated the revised constitution of the National Association and had declined to be bound by them.

Mr. Justice Luxmore observed that both sides were interested in the amateur sport of wrestling, but they were wrestling in a very odd manner now.

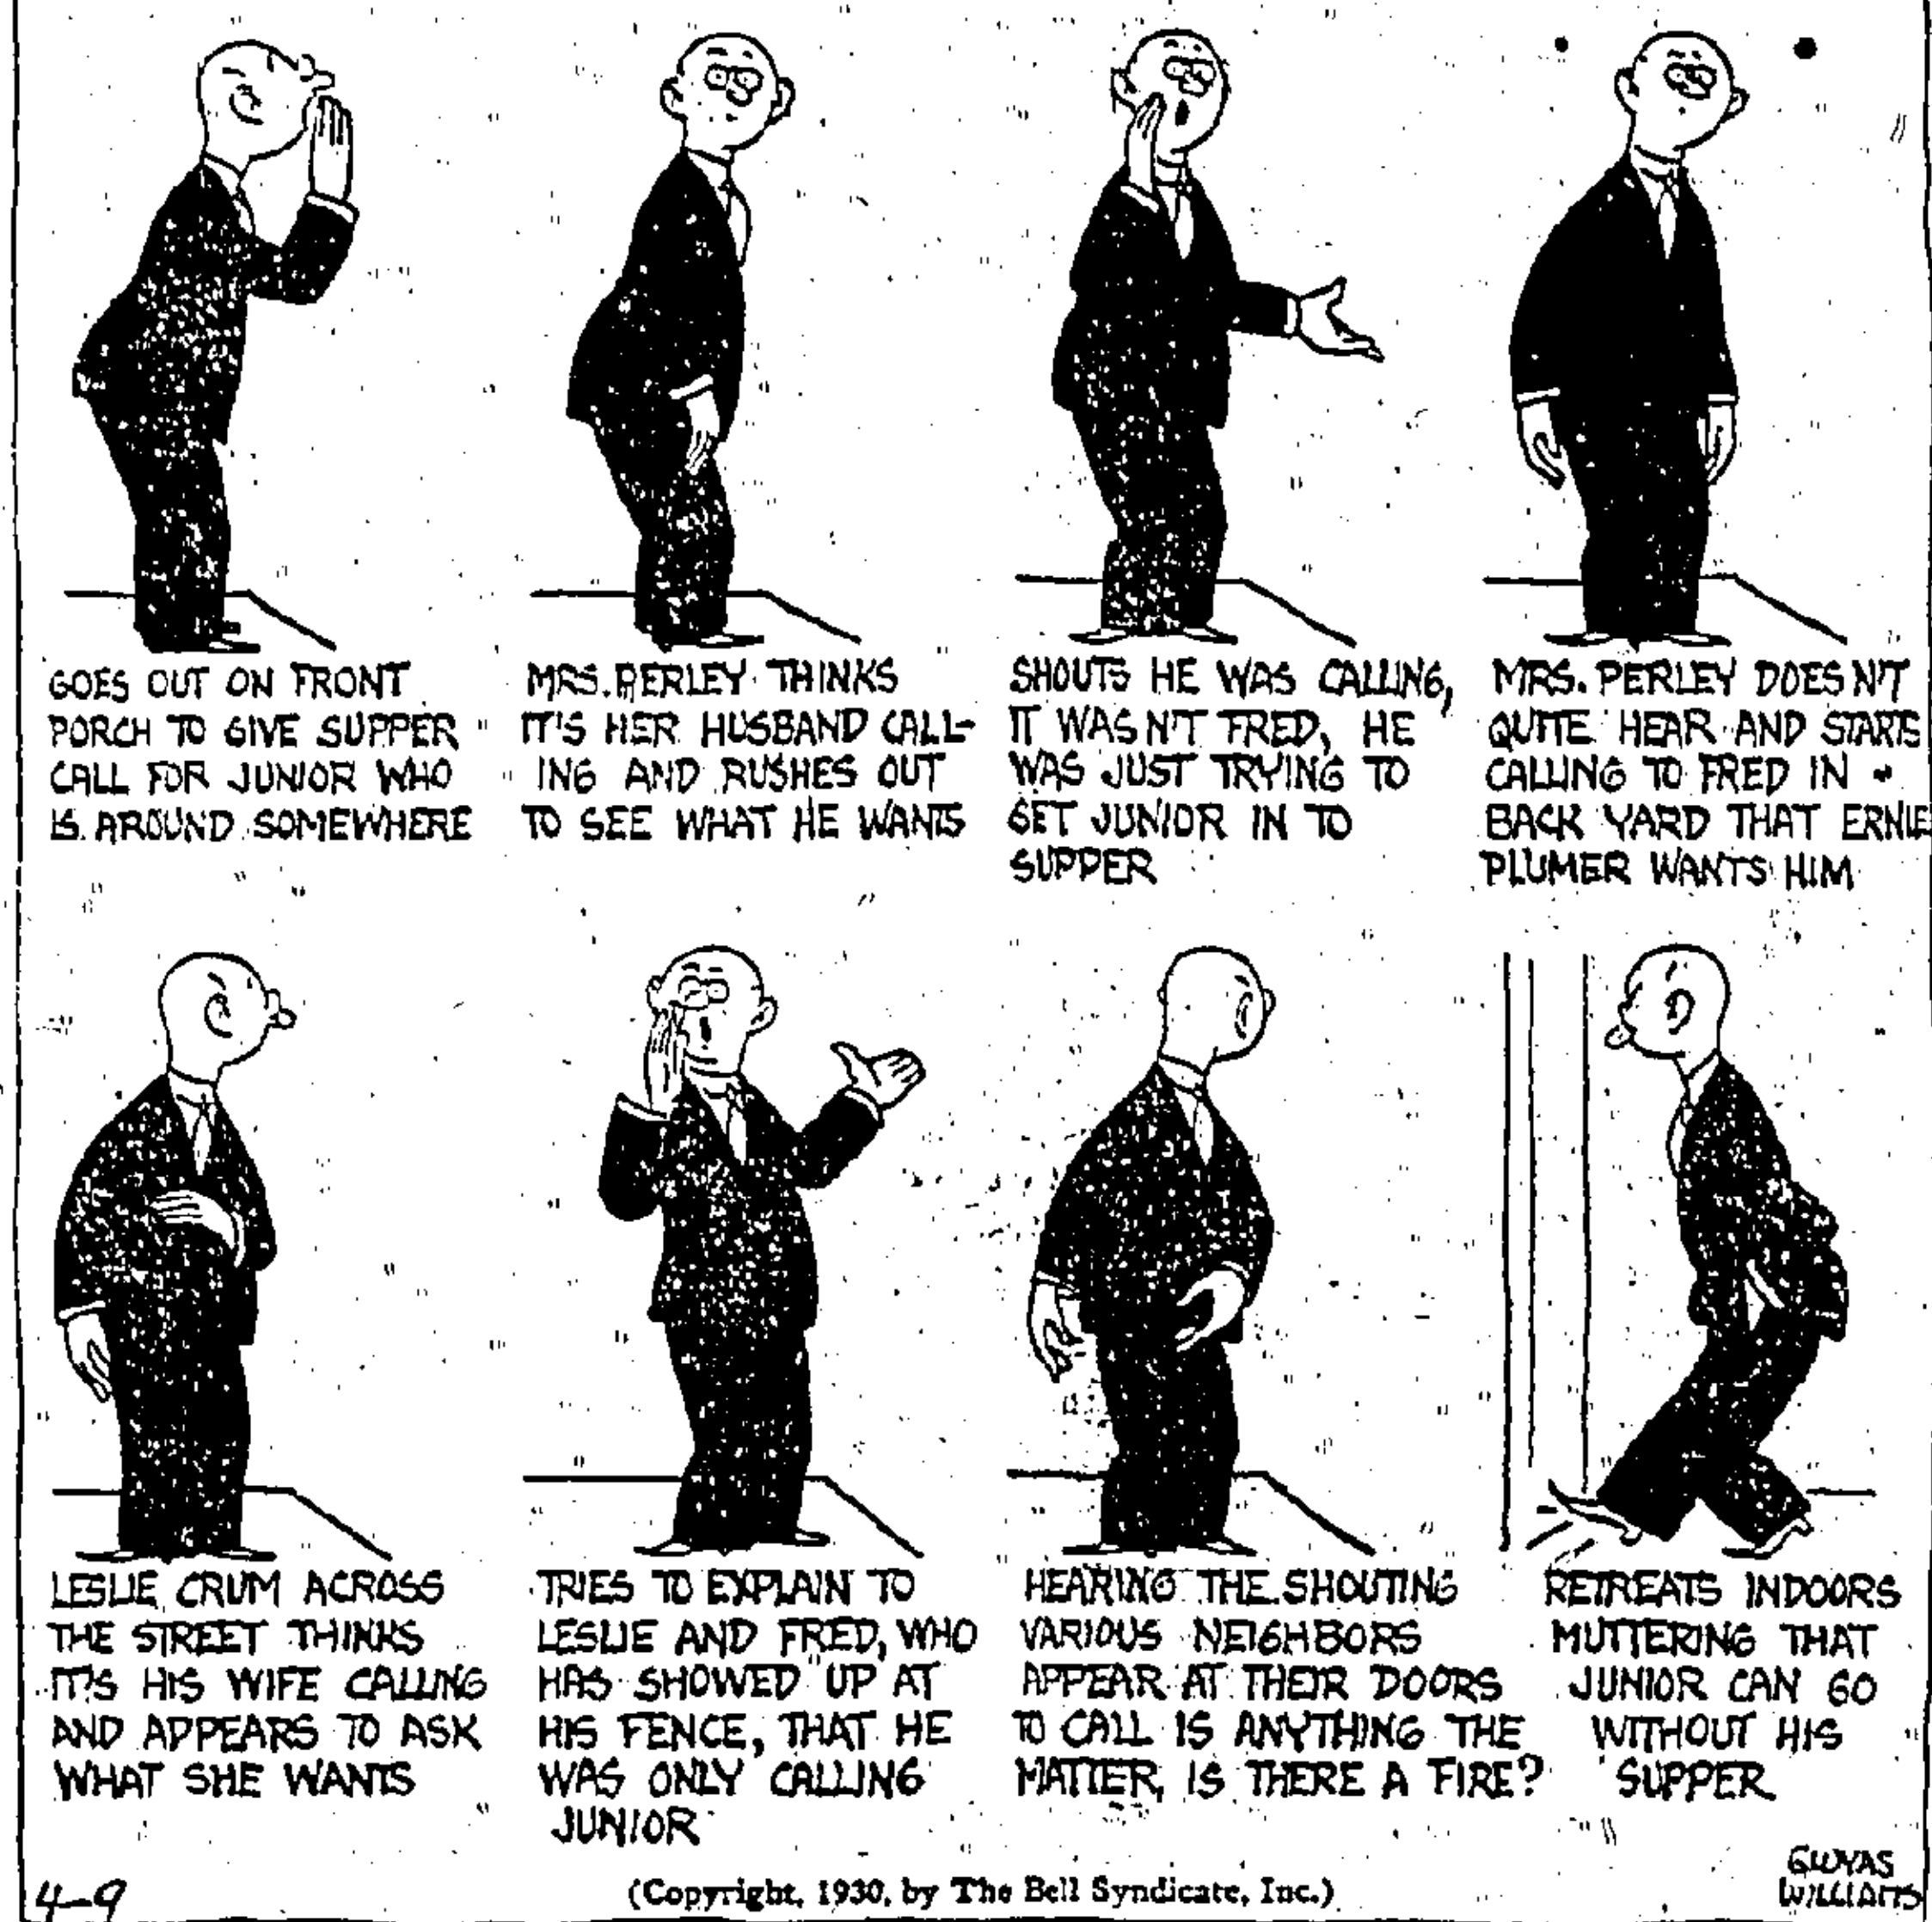

Mr. Laski: The parties ought to be sensible enough to put their heads together.

The Judge: If you are going to be affiliated you must observe the rules of the parent body. Adopting a suggestion of Mr. Laski, the Judge allowed counsel time to consult their clients, and subsequently Mr. Laski suggested that Mr. Justice Luxmore should act as arbitrator between the parties.

The Judge said that he could not undertake that function, although he would go counsel in his room. After the interview with the judge, Mr. Beebe announced that terms had been virtually arranged, and they would be mentioned later.

SUBURBAN HEIGHTS—NEIGHBORHOOD CALLS

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

HUMOUR: ANCIENT AND MODERN.

"Give a word with the prefix ad."
"Addock."

"You say that you made $1000 out of the stock market?"
"Yes—by staying out!"

She (fishing for compliments): "How old do you think I am?"
He (the diplomat): "You don't look it."

Visitor: "Is that your new public school?"
Witty Citizen: "Yes; that's our new Chamber of Commas."

Customer: "Have you really shown me everything you have in the shop?"
Salesman: "Not quite. I have an outstanding account of yours if you would care to look at it."

"That's what I call rubbing it in!" declared the poet.
"What do you mean?" asked his friend.
"I sent this magazine two poems and they've sent me back three."

"Darling!"
"Ummmm."
"John, dear."
"Yes?"

"I was just thinking what a nice hooked rug I could make out of your golf tweeds."

A man was given a carpet to beat, and on bringing it back to the lady of the house she reproachfully said, "Those holes were not there when I gave you the carpet."
"Well, ma'am," he replied, "if they weren't there, where were they?"

Visitor (looking over Australian sheep-station, to overseer): "Er—tell me, is that man all right? He's kept up a constant flow of conversation with nobody while he's shearing."
Overseer: "Oh, yes, he used to be a hairdresser before he immigrated."

Two sailors in a train were discussing the general situation. Said the tall one: "When I got done with this hitch, I'm goin' to git me a pair of nice light oars, and I'm goin' to sling them across my shoulder and start to walk in—land. When I finally hit a place where people say, 'What are them things you got on your shoulder?'—boy, that's where I'm goin' to settle down!"

When a spectator of a sand lot baseball game inquired as to the score, a small boy eagerly replied: "Thirty-six to nothing; they're ahead."

"Aren't you fellows taking an unusual beating?" continued the spectator.
"Oh, no," was the confident reply, "this is only the first inning—we haven't batted yet."

A meeting of the members of two clubs was held for the purpose of deciding whether the clubs should be amalgamated. After the vote had been taken, the chairman announced:

"This meetin' has voted in favour of the two clubs bein' amalgamated."

"I suppose you mean, Mr. Chairman, that they be jammed together?" inquired the secretary of one of the clubs.

Mother: "Johnny, what are you doing in the party?"
Johnny: "Oh, just putting a few things away."

Salesman: "You are six payments behind on your piano."
Customer: "Well, you advertise 'Pay as you play.'"
Salesman: "What has that to do with it?"
Customer: "I play very badly."

Miss: "Isn't that the postman, Mary? Who's gone to the door?"
Mary: "Please, ma'am, cook has."

Miss: "Well, what's she such a long time for?"
Mary: "Please, ma'am, I think it must be a postcard."

A pastor in a small town was beloved by his flock. But his was a small church, and could pay only a very small salary.

He was an eloquent preacher, and his fame spread to a near-by city. A large and wealthy congregation sent him a call, with an offer of a much larger financial reward. He did not know whether to accept or not.

One of his flock met the pastor's little son in the street.
"Well," he said, "I hear your father has received a call to a big city church. Is he going to accept it?"

"I don't know," said the boy. "Father's in his study, praying for guidance."

"And your mother?"
"Oh, she's upstairs, packing the trunks!"

BRITONS WHO ARE BOOTLEGGERS.

CHARGE IN COMMONS AGAINST SEAFARERS.

PREVENTIVE BILL.

A statement that there was evidence of the smuggling of liquor into the United States by ships flying the British flag was made by Mr. Isaac Foot in the House of Commons recently.

He was given leave to introduce a Bill to suspend or cancel the certificate of any master, mate, or engineer engaging in the illicit importation of intoxicating liquor into the United States.

Mr. Foot said the Bill was intended to vindicate the integrity and honour of the ancient calling of British seamen, and to defeat the purpose of lawless men who had lowered the prestige of this country.

"An Imposture."
Mr. Macquisten described the Bill as "a gigantic imposture," in which only a few hysterical males—and females—believed.

"In the United States, while the manufacture of alcoholic liquor for sale is forbidden, everybody can make it for themselves, and everybody does so, and it is the same here."

Much laughter greeted his remark that "If we had the same liberty here to make our own dope it would largely solve the unemployment question."

The Bill was read a first time by 215 to 142.

THE SILVER SCREEN.

"WISE-CRACKS" ON BROADWAY.

What Hollywood would do without Broadway it is impossible to imagine. The "Great White Way" has been filmed from above and below, front and back, and now we get a side view in "Puttin' On the Ritz," showing at the Queen's Theatre. The hero is an actor whose head is turned by success in his profession, and puts on what is known on the English side of the Atlantic as "Swank."

This rather unpleasant, failing lands him into all sorts of trouble with his friends, and we see the sad consequences of "Puttin' on the Ritz" in a series of very amusing incidents in, on, and around Broadway. The humorous situations are made more funny by the "wise-cracks" exchanged between Harry Richmond and James Elson, whose cross-talk humour is a constant stream of joy. The story ends on a tragic note, though the sentimental side is not over-stressed.

There are some very good songs and some excellent dancing, while the stage scenes towards the end of the picture are most effective. All the scenes in the pantomime are beautifully coloured.

A talkie lecture on the characteristics of sound (which precedes the big picture) is most interesting.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Ancient and modern necromancy, also mesmerism and hypnotism, denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches, Scientists, on Sunday, June 1.

The Golden Text was: "The wicked have drawn out the sword, and have bent their bow, to cast down the poor and needy, and to slay such as be of upright conversation. Their sword shall enter into their own heart, and their bows shall be broken." (Ps. 37: 14, 15)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other, or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (Matt. 6: 22-24)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science—text-book: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "We cannot show both physiology and Spirit, for one absolutely destroys the other, and one or the other must be supreme in the affections. It is impossible to work from two standpoints. If we attempt it, we shall presently 'be it to the one, and despise the other.'"

"WHY I GO TO MY DEATH."

EX-OFFICER'S TRAGIC WARNING.

MESSAGE SENT TO A NEWSPAPER.

The last letter of a man whose life ended in tragedy was delivered to the offices of the Evening
Standard last month.

While a reporter hastened to his flat the writer of the letter lay dead in a gas-filled room, and only the hissing of the fully open gasjets disturbed the silence of death.

The dead man was Mr. J. E. Mc-Clelland, of Oxford-gardens, W.10.
The letter said: "Why I go to my death. My health is rotten lately. I will be found in my kitchen opposite the entrance door to my flat."

Enclosed with this letter was another one asking that all papers and documents found in his room should be sent to Miss F. Swann.
It added: "If everything would have gone right I would have chanced proposing to her, for she is a girl not to be met with except once in a million."

Lost £5,500.

Documents were enclosed setting out how Mr. McClelland lost a sum of £5,500, and mentioning the name of a nobleman who he alleged was responsible for the loss.

The reporter who called at the flat found it locked, and obtained the authority of the agent to force the door. The dead man lay on the floor surrounded by piles of litter—old letters, photographs, bills paid and unpaid, newspapers, and diaries.

By the first post at Rye next day
Miss Swann received a letter from Mr. McClelland which stated:—

"My Dearest—This letter will tell you I have crossed the Great Divine. I have deceived you—I could not find treatment. But believe me, I love you."

Miss Swann said that she was greatly perturbed mentally about Mr. McClelland during the past few days.

"I last saw him on Good Friday," she continued, "and he said he was leaving his flat."

Curious Manner.

"He rang me up on Wednesday, and his manner seemed very curious.
He said he was going into hospital to have an operation, rendered necessary by his wound. I was mystified by his manner, and rang up every one I could think of. I learned that he had apparently settled all his bills during the past few days."

"From what he told me, I understand that his father and mother live in Galway, and a sister and brothers are in different parts of the world. He ran away from home at the age of sixteen, and he owed his education to two doctor friends, who had him trained at the Cape
University, and Queen's College, Galway."

"He joined the Army in 1907, and was bought out in 1912. He was a sapper in the Royal Engineers, and rejoined them in 1916, and very soon got a commission in the Royal Irish Rifles, and served in Gallipoli and France. After demobilisation he did some film and publicity work at home and abroad."

A Brilliant Man.

Miss Molly Lucas, who is employed in a London hotel, was engaged to Mr. McClelland from 1928 until three months ago. She said: "Mr.
McClelland was far too warm-hearted and impulsive. He was a brilliant man who spoke languages, but he was a typical Irishman in other ways. He received a bad chest wound at Gallipoli. After the war his luck seemed to go wrong, and the past few years have been a continual struggle."

"He must have been in some very dreadful trouble."
Mr. McClelland was forty-one.
He had been honorary secretary of the Chelmsford branch of the British Legion and a member of the North Kensington Labour Party.

"PLEASURE-KILLER" SENTENCED.

IMPRISONMENT FOR MAN WHO ROASTED OF MURDERERS.

[UNITED PRESS.]

New York, May 23.—Sentence of imprisonment of from 40 years to life was imposed to-day upon James Baker, the confessed murderer of a
New York watchman named Henry Gaw—and self-styled "pleasure-killer" with a trail of murders stretching round the world.

Police told the court that it had been impossible to corroborate
Baker's tales of other murders alleged to have been committed in the Philippines and elsewhere.

In order to avoid the difficulties of a court trial and, on Baker's side, in order to dodge the electric chair,
Baker had consented to plead guilty to second degree murder in the Gaw case.

THE "TALKIES" AND THE THEATRE.

ALARM IN FRANCE.

TEMPTING OFFERS TO ACTORS.

M. Antoine, the eminent actor and former director of the Odéon Theatre, is alarmed about the competition of the "talkies" with the stage, and he is not alone in France in seeing the danger to the French theatre from the allurements of Hollywood. M. Alfred Savoie, M. Yves Mirande, and M.
Jacques Daxal are among the French playwrights to whom American cinema firms have given commissions to write for the "talkies," but it is not the playwrights that
M. Antoine and others are afraid of losing, for they can write for the French stage as well. The cause of the alarm is that French actors and actresses are being tempted by the offers of salaries much larger than they could earn in France to go to Hollywood to act in "talkies."

M. André Luguet has followed Maurice Chevalier to America, and it is announced that contracts to go to Hollywood have just been signed by André Berley and Marcel André.
Mistinguett—"Miss"—as she is popularly called—is reported to have refused several offers, each more tempting than its predecessor, but she in turn may find the temptation irresistible.

Now, it seems, Hollywood is laying siege to the Comédie Française, and it is said that two of the "pensionnaires," Mme. Tania Fedor and M. Dorival, have almost decided to accept offers that have been made to them. The "pensionnaires" of the Comédie Française—that is, those who are not yet permanent members of the staff and are engaged at fixed salaries—are free to leave upon giving the notice agreed upon,
but the permanent members ("sociétaires") who share in the profits, are not so free, and the other day the Comédie Française got heavy damages against an actor who had broken his contract.

At first the manager of the Comédie Française objected to any member of the staff appearing in "talkies" at all, but the objection has now been withdrawn and Mme.
Mary Bell, in particular, has become a "talkie" star in France.
But it would be quite a different matter to go to America, for that would involve a breach of contract.
Nevertheless, it is said that certain "sociétaires" of the Comédie Française are finding it very difficult to resist the offers that Hollywood is making to them.

DIOLITE AND THE DERBY.

HOW HE WON THE TWO THOUSAND GUINEAS.

The classic standing of one at least of the much-criticised three-year-olds was saved when Diolite, the colt who had been given the place of honour in the Free Handicap, returned to a racecourse after more than nine months' absence to win the Two Thousand Guineas in the smoothest possible style by two lengths. In fact, he disposed of non-stayers and many rank bad classic colts in decisive style. There had, however, been so many ifs and buts about the majority of the record twenty-eight runners that the winner, who was the winter favourite for the Derby, started at 10-1 after once drifting out to 100-8. And now he has been followed home by one of the longest priced of the Manton five, in the 33-1 chance Paradiene, with the progressive Silver Flare, at 25-1, another length away, and just catching Blenheim near the post for third place.

The majority will hardly admit that Derby problems have altogether been simplified, for they will turn to Blenheim's stable mate, Ruston Pasha, who gave Paradiene 7lbs. and a four lengths' beating at Epsom the previous week, and even to Lord Astor's Writ, who was not among the field on May 8.

Diolite's Critics. All these problems, however will have to wait. Surely the Diolite critics will now be satisfied that he did all that was required of him in the style of a goodish colt in a patchy year. Dick Dawson, however, was fully justified in running Blenheim, for he would, like the winner, have also justified juvenile form if the race had been decided on the top of the ground.

Joe Lawson had no real fancy for any of his five, but three of them shaped well, for Iliad was fifth, then came Trews in the Writ colours, the northerner Pal o' Mine, Charger, Polveria, Christopher Robin and the false favourite, Caerleon. Many were surprised to find the layers offering only four against Lord Derby's colt before racing. Caerleon did not impress "going down," and they extended it to 5-1 at the off. Weston said Caerleon went all right for five furlongs, and when he asked him for an effort it was not forthcoming. It puzzled the rider and the stable, but there you are. As has been mentioned before, his legs are not fashioned for coming down the hill at Epsom.

It is only natural that Sir Hugo Hirst, who had brought his wife to watch his first important victory, was more than satisfied, though it is doubtful whether they had many big bets on Diolite. Sir Hugo Hirst is a notable City magnate, and chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric Company, which he founded over 40 years ago, and which is supplying a large amount of fittings for various "makes" of "Totes." Jewish owners have been rather quiet of recent years, but Sir Hugo has put them in the market again. Another Sir Hugo (Cunliffe-Owen) won the Derby two years ago with Felstead, and there was, of course, the noted Derby winner named Sir Hugo.

Unnoticed Owner. Sir Hugo Hirst's success will be of considerable interest in Germany. A big race scene at Newmarket with the hundreds of famous turf men and women with whom paddock regulars are still familiar, must have seemed strange to the stranger-owner and Lady Hirst. They passed out of the course and returned home soon after the big race practically unnoticed.

Diolite's owner told me that when he went to Australia two years ago he commissioned Fred Templeman his trainer to buy a yearling for him. Templeman added: "Sir Hugo Hirst told me to go up to 2,000 guineas, but I took such a liking to the Diophon-Needle Rock colt that I secured him at the Newmarket sales for the remarkable price of 450 guineas." Compare that with the 13,000 guineas that are given for fashionably-bred yearlings which never see a racecourse, and to-day's race was worth about 212,000 to add to last year's.

Templeman, who gave up riding to train, at the late Lord Jersey's request, has never had a Diolite before. No wonder he has always realised he had something out of the ordinary. "What will the adverse critics have to say about him now?" he said, rather defiantly. (Continued on next column.)

AMY JOHNSON TO GO SLOWLY.

CANCELLATION OF ENGAGEMENTS.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, May 30.

So many public engagements have been arranged for Miss Amy Johnson, who is now at Brisbane, that her doctor has ordered her, as a matter of precaution, to cancel many of them.

She, therefore, did not attend a luncheon at which she was to have been the guest of the women graduates of Brisbane University, and she only made a brief stay at a garden party at Government House.

They must continue to regard Diolite as a light-actioned colt of compact build who is bigger than he looks, but will, like Trigo last year, never cook the old-time classic champion. He emulated his sire, Diophan, in the Two Thousand, and probably possesses more stamina, and it is interesting to note that Grand Parade, the non-staying Derby winner, whom Templeman rode at Epsom, is the sire of Diophan and also of to-day's runner-up Paradiene.

Jockey's Luck.

Templeman confirmed the report that Diolite will not run again before the Derby, but Fox would not again be available to ride if Fred Darling saddles Dick Swirell. Harry Beasley would, however, probably be free, as it was only a lucky mount for Fox at Bechampton on the previous Saturday morning that Kress Gang was scratched and hurried over to ride Diolite in the final gallop.

The long-established little man always gives a very clear account of a race in which he has ridden, and he summed up this strange classic in a very few sentences. "Paradiene would have made all the running if I had not collared him when I made my forward movement going up Bushes' Hill. I was always lying handy, with Charger near me, and Blenheim in front of me, but I was able to take a pull and ensure a smooth challenge when I liked."

Paradiene, who was drawn No. 6, was able to come across to, near the stand rails. Never have there been better Two Thousand day conditions. Sunshine and a perfect light compared with the previous day's misery.

The Tote Turnover.

The tote turnover on the big race was 29,293, and the winner practically the same price as in the books. Paradiene was, however, 20-1 for a place. It is a further sign of the 1930 Newmarket to see an air-plane on the far side of the course opposite the stands. It departed while Tommy Atkins was sprinting home later.

The winner started at 10 to 1, the second at 33 to 1, and the third at 25 to 1 in the ring. On the totalisator the winner started at just over 10 to 1 for a win and just over 9 to 2 for a place. The second was at 20 to 1 for a place and the third at just over 11 to 2. A large number of people were unable to bet on the totalisator, and many more ticket-issuing windows are wanted or else a general speeding-up by the staff working the ticket-issuing machines.

The Race Described.

The conditions for the race were not bad, for the afternoon was fairly fine and the going not too soft, although it was much softer than any experienced this season, with the possible exception of the first day at Liverpool. Caerleon was always the favourite. He looked well, but those people closely connected with him were doubtful as to his prospects in the changed going.

The actual race is not difficult to describe. After only a short delay, Captain Allison got an excellent start. There were no sufferers, for although after going a short way Seer and one or two of the others were a length or so behind the line, that was due to their slowness in starting rather than to any defect in the start. Early in the race Trews was prominent on the stand side of the course. Close to him, Strongbow and Christopher Robin were going well, while farther away, in the middle of the course, Diolite was always prominent. Coming down Bushes' Hill into the Dip Diolite was probably in front, and going very well. Caerleon already was badly placed and not going too well, while Trews and Iliad were beginning to falter. Half-way up the Hill to the winning post Diolite was in front, and going so well that his success was assured. Paradiene was also apparently certain to finish second, while third place was doubtful between Blenheim and Silver Flare. Diolite, without being fully extended, won by two lengths from Paradiene, with Silver Flare just gaining third place. Trews, Iliad and Caerleon were all close up to the placed horses.

FUNERAL OF LORD DAVIDSON.

OBSEQUIES AT CANTERBURY.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, May 30.

The remains of the late Archbishop, Lord Davidson, who was Primate of England for nearly 30 years, were buried this afternoon.

The grave was under the open sky within the shadow of the cloisters, on the walls of which were piled hundreds of wreaths.

The Archbishops of Canterbury and York and six Bishops took part in the funeral service.

The congregation was representative of all denominations, including the Moderator of the Church of Scotland, the heads of Free Churches and the Greek Archimandrite.

Previous to the service, the coffin lay in the choir of the Cathedral, and a multitude of mourners of all classes filed past during the morning, paying a last tribute.

A memorial service was also held at St. Paul's Cathedral, the officiating clergy including Dean Inge, the Archbishop of London and the Bishop of Kensington.

EMPIRE ART.

NOTABLE WORK FROM DOMINIONS.
CLEVER WOMEN.

What does he know of British art who only England knows?

Very few of us have any idea what is being done by our kin in the Dominions and Colonies in art although we all know what they did in war.

The British Empire Academy is doing something to let us know about it, and in the second exhibition at the New Burlington Galleries it has displayed the best collection of current overseas art that one can remember in London.

The home section is interesting, with Charles Pears's "The Scarf Parrot" and works by H. D. Richter, Paul Paul and, among last-known painters who show delightful work, Elsie Druce and Billie Waters.

Excepting Canada, the chief parts of the Empire are characteristically here.

There is nothing revolutionary. India holds to its old convention and technique, and the other countries are mainly impressionist in tendency, while there is no modern post-impressionism.

Woman's Picture.

Some of the best work comes from New Zealand.

R. S. Hellaby's "Boiling Lake, Tarnwara," in idea, style and colour, strikes one as the outstanding work in this section, and his "Coral Strand at Levuka," Fiji, also has power and charm.

Ruth Hollingsworth is another notable New Zealander.

In the Australian section, Sydney Long's landscapes, and J. S. Watson's decorative panel, deserve special mention.

The South African section is biggest, and has most variety.

Some of the best work comes from the East, a decorative design of men on a topmast seen against a brilliant blue and white sky. Graham Brown's "Kwanching," Margaret Carey's "Zulu Mother and Child," and M. Kottler's "honey-head of a Bontotot girl" are notable contributions.

THE TACOMA-TOKYO FLIGHT OFF.

BROMLEY'S NEW MACHINE DESTROYED.

RESULT OF OVERLOADING WITH PETROL.

[UNITED PRESS.]

Los Angeles, May 24.—While attempting to take off his new low-winged monoplane in what was to have been its last test flight before an attempt to fly from Tacoma to Tokyo, Lieutenant Harold Bromley crashed near Murdock Lake to-day and completely demolished the ship.

W. H. Catlin, aviator in charge of the test, was injured in the disaster. The weight of 800 gallons of petrol apparently caused the plane's inability to clear the ground with wide-open throttle.

Second Discouragement.

It was Lieut. Bromley's second such discouragement. On July 23 of last year he wrecked a G.325,000 specially built Lockheed monoplane practically identical to the one which became matchwood and torn canvas to-day.

Powered with a 300-horsepower Wasp Jr. engine, the ship had been designed to carry 750 gallons of gasoline. Recently Lieut. Bromley caused changes to be made so that more fuel could be stored on board, but the crash to-day was eloquent testimony to the judgment of the original designers.

When the first crash occurred on the runway at Tacoma last year, Lieut. Bromley, who is only 29 years old, almost wept because he had sunk every cent of his own money in the venture and the Lockheed Aircraft Co. informed him the wrecked plane could not be reconstructed. He had started to raise more money, with success.

The first plane, City of Tacoma, had had a petrol capacity of 900 gallons and Lieut. Bromley felt that the extra 150 gallons was necessary. He had intended to watch the ship fly with the overload, but it failed to clear the ground at all.

Death of Pilot.

Reports late to-day from Murdock Lake, the scene of Lieut. Harold Bromley's latest aeroplane disaster, said that W. H. Catlin, the test pilot, died in a hospital from burns received in the crash.

The plane flared up and Catlin was removed with great difficulty. Latest reports indicated that Lieut. Bromley himself was not on board.

Friends here believe that Lieut. Bromley's record of unbroken bad luck will now cause him to abandon the idea of a flight to Tokyo. Altogether, the aeroplanes have now been destroyed, the one demolished to-day and one which crashed last year having been duplicated with an aggregate value of about G.850,000.

NEW ATTEMPT TO FLY ATLANTIC.

EAST TO WEST TRIP BY AMERICAN PILOT.

[UNITED PRESS.]

New York, May 25.—Two more spectacular aeroplane flights are in prospect for the near future, it was learned to-day, despite abandonment of plans for Lieut. Harold Bromley's Tacoma-Tokyo "hop."

Art Goebel, who won fame, and the Dole Contest prize simultaneously when he flew from Oakland to Hawaii in the summer of 1927, is starting for Paris on Wednesday with the intention of making a non-stop east-to-west flight New York, despite the hazards of the unfavourable winds which prevail in this direction.

Robert Fiero, a Mexican, will start for New York on Thursday in an attempt to make a non-stop flight from Mexico City. Should he be successful, he will later attempt a flight to Natal and West Africa.

AMERICAN INVESTMENTS ABROAD.

EXPECTATION OF EARLY RESUMPTION.

[UNITED PRESS.]

Los Angeles, May 25.—An official summary issued to-day by the Foreign Trade Conference, at the completion of its sessions, predicted that the investments of American capital abroad would soon be resumed, with a commensurate effect upon foreign trade.

During past years it was found that the security market worked on money available for purchase of American exports, and restricted exports generally, causing slackness of international commerce.

The establishment of the International Bank is expected to assist in the re-establishment of a reasonable rate of progress in world trade.

SOME INSECT PESTS.

HOW TO DESTROY THEM.

This is the season of the year when all sorts of insect pests begin to cause annoyance—and worse. Mr. Siow Choon Leng, Director of the Health Service Intelligence Bureau and Associate of the Royal Institute of Public Health (England), has been for many years a sanitary specialist in the Orient, and is keenly interested in the extermination of disease-producing germs carriers. After making a brief survey into sanitary conditions here, Mr. Siow is of the opinion that the public should disinfect their house-garbage before delivering it to the scavengers.

Mr. Siow expresses the following views with regard to the causes and possible cures of insect pests:—

Flies are the dirtiest crawling and flying insects on earth and equally annoying rich and poor. Winter in any country kills practically all flies, but during spring they are seen again.

What we see now all over Hong Kong and vicinity are house-flies, but there are 10,000 species of flies known, many so small that they can hardly be seen with the naked eye, yet all carry disease-producing germs.

Flies.

"In Hong Kong, as the city-garbage is properly dumped into the sea by the Health Authorities, garbage improperly kept by house holders, hotel and restaurant keepers is solely responsible for the accumulation of flies, and unless covered receptacles are used in which to store domestic refuse, I am of opinion that there can be no hope of exterminating them or even reducing their number. It would be advisable to have galvanized iron receptacles with well-fitting metallic covers to ensure dryness of the contents and protection from water. This is an important point, as the presence of moisture hastens putrefaction and the formation of offensive gases in the refuse. Such receptacles, and the ease with which they can be removed and carried to the scavenger's trucks, constitute a very great advantage over other kinds of dust-bins. In summer rotting house-garbage attracts large number of flies, which invade surrounding houses and settle on food. It must be remembered that most disease-producing germs are carried from place to place by flies.

"Countless numbers of flies have already made their appearance all over this city. What shall we do about it? Shall we all simply keep quiet? Swat them? Screen the food we eat and the water we drink? It is impossible to swat all flies, for as I have already said, many are too small even to see with the naked eye. A certain expert recommends the following poison which is said to be the best to destroy flies—Formalin 1 ounce, sugar 1 ounce, lime water 1 pint, water 1 pint.

I recommend cod-liver oil, sprinkled on water against flies and mosquitoes. To kill instantaneously flies at their breeding haunts I recommend potash dissolved in cream which I have found useful when spread over a large piece of black oil-cloth and surrounded with green or rose-colour paper.

"For sprinkling rubbish use chloride of lime, sulphate of iron, either powdered or in 20 per cent solution, borax, slaked lime or potassium permanganate. This will help in wholesale destruction of flies. Fly-papers may also be used.

Ants.

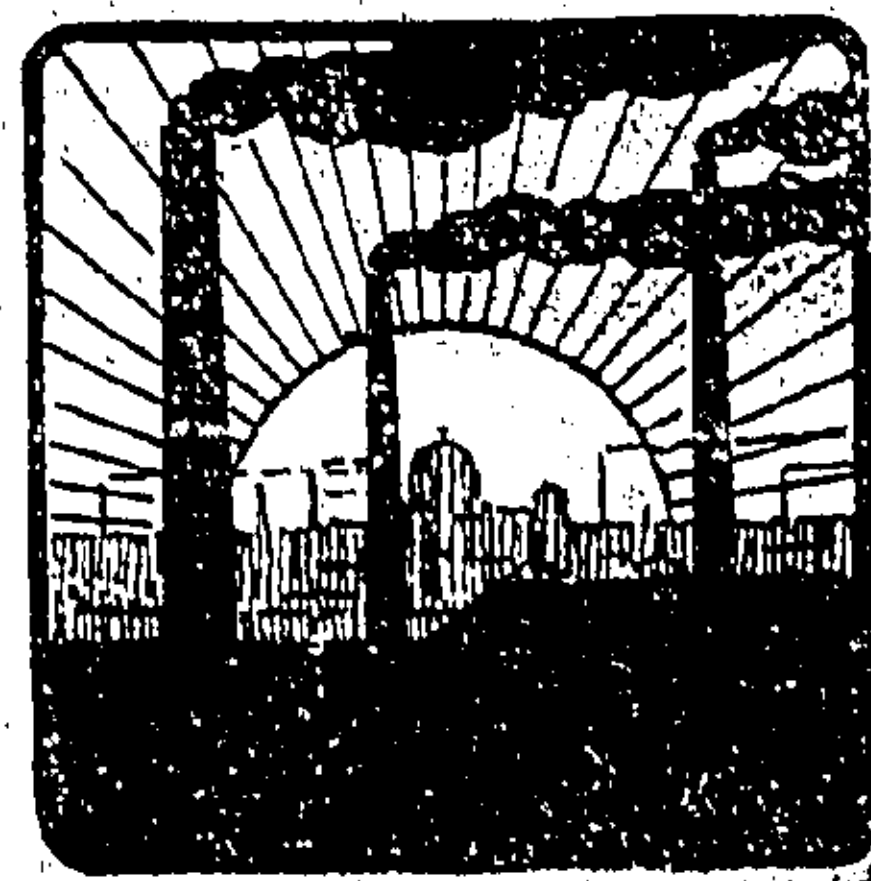

"Ants, because they feed on the carcasses of other disease-producing germs-carriers, are in my opinion, more dangerous and a greater menace to public health. Where flies may be exterminated, mosquitoes avoided by sleeping under mosquito-nets, rats poisoned or trapped, ants cannot be got rid of in any practical way. I have studied for many years the problem in five large cities of the Orient, but have so far been unable to discover any feasible way of exterminating them. Ants live in troops of thousands. They possess scouts, and if you can see one on your dining-table or near your bedstead the rest are not far from it. The best method so far for reducing their number is to catch them by sponges soaked in sugared water or molasses, and then immerse the sponge along with the ants in boiling water.

Cockroaches and Bugs.

"Cockroaches and bed-bugs are rare in Hong Kong, but they are everywhere food is available, and therefore can be poisoned without much difficulty. Dark places are liked by cockroaches. If it is impossible to destroy roaches at once, it is advisable not to switch off the kitchen light at night."

HONG KONG'S PLACE IN THE AIR.

GREAT FUTURE PREDICTED BY HON. MR. SHENTON.

HIS EXCELLENCY SIR WILLIAM PEEL OPENS NEW FLYING CLUB.

There was a large gathering of those interested in aviation at the Kai Tak Flying Base on Saturday when His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, K.B.E., C.M.G., officially opened the clubhouse of the Hong Kong Flying Club.

His Excellency and Lady Peel arrived shortly before 4 p.m. and were met on the grounds by the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Wing-Commodore of the Club. Others present included His Excellency Major-General Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, Hon. Mr. H. T. Creasy, Commander G. F. Hole, Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso and Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones.

Sir William Peel, in the course of his speech, commented on the rapid strides made in aviation in recent years. He congratulated the Hong Kong Flying Club on the progress they had made, and observed that in undertaking to train men and women of all nationalities in aviation, the Club was conferring a great boon, not only on Hong Kong, but on the world generally.

The Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton predicted a great future for Hong Kong as an air port, pointing out that the various big cities in South China would be within a few hours' flying of Hong Kong.

H.E. AND THE PASSION FOR SPEED.

On being invited to open the new Clubhouse, His Excellency the Governor said:—Mr. Shenton, Your Excellency, ladies and gentlemen, I am very glad that it has fallen to my lot to open this clubhouse this afternoon. Some months ago in London, I read in a Hong Kong newspaper an account of the proceedings of a meeting which was held to inaugurate the Hong Kong Flying Club. The objects and reasons of the Club were set out so clearly in the speeches of Sir Cecil Clementi and of the Hon. Mr. Shenton that there is no reason for me to recapitulate them this afternoon.

Government and the Club.

I must congratulate the Club on the great progress which has been gained since that meeting. Your membership, I understand, now exceeds 50, you have acquired two planes and you have now got your club premises ready for use. As you all know, the Government has received applications for financial help from the public purse, which unfortunately does not possess the essential characteristics of the widow's cruse. It is obviously necessary that many of these applications must be turned down, but I am sure you will all agree that the financial help given to this Club is more than justified. I understand it consists of a grant of $50,000 and an annual subsidy of $20,000.

One of the objects of the Club is to train pilots and engineers and to admit men of all nationalities. Another object is that each member undertakes to place his service at the disposal of the Government in time of stress. I can only say this is evidence of the unity and loyalty of the public of Hong Kong.

The Days of Icarus.

Aviation has progressed very rapidly, particularly of recent years, and one can imagine that earliest of aviators, Icarus, if he is allowed to gaze across the waters of the Styx, feeling very envious of modern aviators.

Aviators to-day not only number in their ranks large numbers of men of different nationalities but also consist of duchesses, dames and flappers. Miss Amy Johnson, in what has been flippantly called a flapper's flight, has evoked the admiration of the world. It is no doubt a marvellous experience for a girl of 22. Perhaps I may be pardoned as a Yorkshireman when I say I am proud that the great feat was performed by one who may be described as a Yorkshire lass.

Aeroplane or Bath Chair?

There are many sides to aviation. First there is the joyous sporting side which appeals to the passion for speed, which seems so much the vogue nowadays. Perhaps, at the moment, it is a little like the old story of a man who was so fond of speed that he sometimes wondered whether he shall not soon be bankrupt of new sensations in this direction. One day, possibly, there may be a reaction, and, as our American friends might put it, it may be called the cutest game in the world to push one another round in bath chairs. (Laughter.) But, however, that time is not yet.

Then there is the commercial side, and here there seems to be no doubt that in the near future aviation will revolutionize commerce.

But perhaps the most important side of aviation is its power in the matter of saving life. You must all have heard of lives which aviation saved at sea which would otherwise have been lost but for the help of aviators. A year or two ago the great feat was performed of removing all women and children from Kabul, in a time of stress, in great safety. Perhaps I am not justified in saying a big saving of life, but at all events there was a danger, and the feat put to rest the fears and anxieties of many friends and relations.

A Boon to the World.

I should say recently the presence of aeroplanes in Peshawar and other places in India undoubtedly was the means of saving many lives.

The Hong Kong Flying Club, in undertaking to train men and women to attain that power, is conferring a great boon not only on Hong Kong but on the world generally, and I am sure that I am voicing your feelings in wishing them great prosperity and success for the future.

HON. MR. SHENTON APPRECIATES GIFT FROM GOVERNMENT.

Hon. Mr. Shenton:—It is a very great privilege to me as Wing-Commodore of this Club to thank Your Excellency and Lady Peel most heartily for so kindly coming here to-day and opening our Club for us, which I am sure is a good augury for a very successful future. I should like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the Club, to express our appreciation to the Government of Hong Kong for the very substantial financial assistance which they have given to our Club, and thereby to aviation in this Colony. An initial grant of $50,000 and an annual subsidy of $20,000 a year is no mean gift. We appreciate it immensely and we hope in due course to return that generosity in kind.

I desire, your Excellency, also to thank the members of my committee from whom I have received so much assistance. In fact, without the assistance and unremitting efforts of my committee, it would have been impossible to open this Club to-day. I would particularly like to thank Mr. Lammer, who has been so ably in charge of arrangements, our secretary, Mr. Summers, and also Mr. Wynne-Jones, who, until he went to Taipei, rendered yeoman service.

Objects of the Club.

I should like to say a few words on the objects of our Club. In addition to teaching and assisting flying generally, one of our main objects is to assist the Government of Hong Kong in case of emergency. If I may do so, I should like to say a few words in regard to the declaration which flying members are asked to sign when joining this Club. That declaration is that in case of an emergency, they will place their services at the disposal of the Government.

EXTENSIVE DEALS IN CHINESE WINE.

SHOP MASTER FINED AT MAGISTRACY.

The case in which the licensee of the Po Fung wine shop of Belcher's Street was charged with dealing extensively in dutiable wine came to an end on Saturday morning when Mr. A. W. G. H. Grantham imposed a fine of $1,500 on defendant.

Two other persons, an accountant and an assistant of the shop, who, together with the licensee were charged with possession of 20 jars of spirits of wine on which duty had not been paid, were discharged.

The Magistrate held that the 20 jars were included in the extensive dealings on which the licensee had been convicted.

The licensee of the Tin Woo distillery was charged with having aided and abetted in the said extensive sale of dutiable wine. His Worship held that the evidence against this man was not strong enough for the Bench to register a conviction, and he therefore discharged the defendant.

Mr. M. K. Lo represented the licensee and employees of the Po Fung Wine shop, and Mr. F. X. D'Almada, senior, was for the licensee of the Tin Woo Distillery.

and for the assistance of the Government of Hong Kong. I think there has been a little trepidation on the part of some members of the community of what that declaration means. It means that when the Colony is faced with an emergency, which is declared by the Government as an emergency, then this Club will place its members and its facilities at the disposal of the Hong Kong Government. In addition, one of our main objects is to assist the Hong Kong Volunteers to acquire a knowledge of aviation and to establish a flying wing as an adjunct to the Hong Kong Volunteers.

We have two classes of members—flying and associate. It does not mean that every man who joins this Club has to be a flying member, because associate members will receive all the privileges of the Club with the exception of that of flying. We have, as you see, acquired two planes. This we fondly expect is a mere beginning and we hope that before very long members of our Club will own their own machines.

Assistance From Air Ministry.

It is quite possible that we may in future receive some assistance from the Air Ministry at Home if the Club is sufficiently prosperous, and I see no reason why, in due course, some substantial assistance in the way of plane or planes may not be received from the Air Ministry.

Now, it is almost a hackneyed phrase to say that the prosperity of Hong Kong lies in its harbour. The day may not be very far distant when it will not be so much a question of ships entering and leaving this harbour as of great airships and aeroplanes entering and leaving Hong Kong. It is obviously necessary for the Colony of Hong Kong to look ahead and provide for those days which must come when Hong Kong will be as great an airport, and probably a greater port than she is a shipping port to-day.

Hong Kong's Great Future.

One has only to consider the possibilities of aviation to-day to realize the great future it has for us. Within an hour one can be in Canton; in six hours one can be in Hankow—a port which takes us to-day six days to get there; places like Nanning and Wuchow are within a very short distance from us. One only has to consider these factors to realize the great possibilities before this Club.

Again, your Excellency, I shall also refer to this great feat of Miss Amy Johnson. She can be described as a girl who, with a second-hand machine, has successfully flown single-handed from England to Australia. When one hears this possibility in mind, one gets a fair idea of what we can do if we only try.

I should like to express our appreciation to your Excellency and Lady Peel for coming here to-day and assisting us in this ceremony.

Demonstration Flights.

After His Excellency had declared the building open, those on the ground were treated to a demonstration flight. Tea was served, while on the Kai Tak Aviation Ground the two machines were inspected by the public.

Later, prospective members were taken up for a ride in the air and Flight Lieutenant Bennett gave a spectacular exhibition of "stunt flying."

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE DWINDLING DOLLAR.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

Sir,—Replying to the enquiry of "Curious" in your Saturday's issue, I wish to say that the point I desired to make in my letter about the conversion from silver to a gold basis of the currency of British Honduras was that a fluctuating currency is not a good medium for business transactions between any two countries. I believe that our fluctuating silver currency is not advantageous for business between this Colony and China, and that we should not wait for China to reform its currency.

The conversion of the currency of British Honduras was effected shortly after I left the Colony, and I am unable to give details of the scheme. The standard unit there is the Canadian gold dollar. The gold dollar at the time of the conversion was much above the value of the silver dollar, and some trouble was experienced with labour before conditions became settled.

If "Curious" is interested in conversion schemes, I recommend him to study the way the change was effected in India, Singapore, and the Philippines. In the last-named place the conversion was very smoothly carried out. The unit there is called a peso, and is exactly half the value of the American dollar.

If the desire for a fixed-value dollar in Hong Kong is voiced loudly enough it will be obtained. The Government experts in England would decide the conditions. The danger is, I think, that if exchange rises again in the immediate future the present hardships many are experiencing will be forgotten, and the agitation will fizzle out.—Yours, etc.,

"REDS" RAID AMOY GAOL.

FIFTY PRISONERS LIBERATED.

WARDEN AND WARDER KILLED.

A serious outrage occurred in Amoy last Sunday morning, when a gang of 100 Communist-bandits attacked the city gaol and freed more than 50 convicts. The affair was all the more daring because it took place near the yamen of the Gen-darmie Commissioner and under the very eyes of several Chinese gunboats stationed in port at the time.

In recording the outrage, the Eastern Times says that a gang of more than 100 Communist-bandits put in a sudden appearance in front of the Szeming-hsien (Amoy) district gaol at 9.45 a.m. on Sunday, and, without any warning, opened fire on the prison guards, killing Lu Yun Tsung, the warden, and Li Su Kai, a warder, and seriously wounding a captain and three of the guards. Forcing open the gates, they succeeded in overpowering the guards and the warders and burst open the cells in which the criminals of the worst type were incarcerated. Freeing these men, and others, they took them to Yu Kong Kow, where they all boarded a couple of launches and made off.

According to statements of the guards who escaped death, only about a dozen of the attackers were armed.

Later news received was to the effect that 54 prisoners had escaped as a result of the outrage, and of these only eight have been re-arrested so far, the remaining 46 escaping. Investigations reveal the fact that the escape was perpetrated by Communist-bandits, because most of the escaped prisoners were serving sentences for Communist activities.

A search is being made for the escaped convicts and efforts are being made to arrest the perpetrators of the outrage.

STRAITS CHINESE CHARGED.

ARRESTED FOR OFFENCE IN SINGAPORE.

FUGITIVE OFFERS TO RETURN.

Au Yeung Tim, a Cantonese from Singapore, who is wanted by the Straits Settlements authorities for an alleged embezzlement committed in Singapore, appeared before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy on Saturday, when extradition proceedings were to be instituted against him. The fugitive declared, however, that he was prepared to return to Singapore under police escort, and extradition formalities against him were, therefore, waived.

Au Yeung Tim is alleged to have embezzled a sum of over $3,000 belonging to the Chu Kwong Lau firm, of No. 30, Market Street, Singapore. The defalcations were alleged to have been committed during a period between June last year and February of this year.

In the circumstances, the Magistrate decided to discharge the fugitive from the jurisdiction of the Court.

EUROPEAN LADY ROBBED.

FUR COAT STOLEN FROM HOTEL.

Two Chinese were charged before Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith at Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday with stealing a fur coat valued at $80, the property of Mrs. Chubb, from Empress Lodge, Mody Road.

One of the men pleaded guilty and accepted all responsibility, and the other was discharged.

Detective Sergeant Humphreys told the Magistrate that the fur coat was stolen from the Empress Lodge between 8.30 a.m. and noon on Thursday last. A report was made to the police, and later in Yaumati a Chinese detective stopped the two defendants who were carrying a parcel. On opening it, the detective found the fur coat and arrested the two men.

It was stated that the fur coat was deliberately cut in the attempt to deceive the pawnbroker that it was an old one, but the first pawnbroker whom they went to would not receive the coat. The men then carefully patched up the tear with black cloth, for a second attempt, but were arrested on the way.

The Magistrate imposed a sentence of four months' hard labour.

THE KAI TAK FOLLIES.

ENJOYABLE EVENING AT K.C.C.

There was a large attendance at the Kowloon Cricket Club on Saturday night when the Kai Tak Follies, in conjunction with the "Aeros" Dance Band, gave a very bright entertainment. There was not a dull moment throughout the whole programme, which was a very varied one and well arranged with concerted numbers among the songs and duets. Some of the "ladies" of the company were most attractive-looking damsels.

"The Doubtful Quartette" was excellent, and the two sketches, "Harmonious House-Hunting" and "Our Parochial Gathering" provoked much laughter. There is some good talent in this company, and a little more attention to detail in stage management will make the Follies a very capable company. More than once on Saturday there were indications of insufficient rehearsing. These little faults can be very easily remedied, and the general ability of the company is such that the effort would be well worth while.

The Club's arrangements were excellent, and no doubt those present hope there will be many more such shows during the hot weather.

The artists were: A. E. Cox, G. Stretton, V. Talbot, L. Muirhead, J. Summers, C. Tower, A. Millward and H. Hunt, at the piano, L. A. Watling.

HONG KONG, JUNE 2, 1930.

THE "LITTLE SISTERS."

TWELVE months ago the Anti-Mui T'ai Society was yet again earnestly urging the Hong Kong Government to enforce registration of mui t'ai. A law to that effect was passed in 1923, but had not been put in operation. Various explanations were given or hinted at—the number of slave-girls was very small; it would be impossible to carry out a scheme of registration owing to Chinese opposition; it was unwise to interfere with an old Chinese custom which, after all, had its good points. The Anti-Mui T'ai Society persisted in its agitation to bring about reform. It was never suggested that the mere registration of mui t'ai would put an end to the evil, but it was argued that if the names and addresses of slave-girls and "adopted daughters" were known to the authorities, it would be an easy matter to ascertain whether these helpless children were properly treated.

As a result of the steady and persistent efforts of the Anti-Mui T'ai Society to keep this question before the public at home as well as in this Colony—Lord PASSFIELD, Secretary of State for the Colonies, gave instructions that what he called the laissez faire policy hitherto followed by the Hong Kong Government must be changed—and it has been. The Protection of Women and Girls Ordinance of 1927 has been greatly strengthened, giving the authorities much wider powers of search, arrest, and punishment in regard to the sale, purchase, and ill-treatment of young women and girls. The mui t'ai were not specifically mentioned in this new legislation, but it was really for the benefit of these unfortunate girls that additional powers were conferred upon the police and other authorities. Prosecutions for the ill-treatment of girls have been much more frequent of late, and many punishments have been imposed upon convicted offenders. All this has been done in order to bring to the activities of the Anti-Mui T'ai Society, which has never ceased to demand that the law be amended, and enforced, in such a way as to make things very uncomfortable for those guilty of ill-treating slave-girls and other helpless women and children.

Toward the end of last year it was announced—as a result of Lord PASSFIELD's stimulating instructions—that all mui t'ai must be registered within six months. That period has just expired, and we learn from the Secretary for Chinese Affairs that the names and addresses of 3,712 girls were officially recorded up to May 30. This figure does not represent the total number of mui t'ai in the Colony. There must be many more who have not yet been registered, but their owners now face the risk of a heavy fine for not having complied with the requirements of the law. The Domestic Service Ordinance has been also amended very drastically for the protection of slave-girls, and the general attitude of the Hong Kong Government has changed from laissez faire to laissez aller. It will be a long time before this Colony will be able to say it has no "little sisters" within its gates, but it can now be claimed that no encouragement is given for the continuance of a system of slavery. It may be also asserted that much more protection is now extended to girls and young women in domestic service, whether they be described as "little sisters," "adopted daughters," or servants without any qualifying fancy names. In view of the changed attitude of the British authorities on this question, all that is now needed to hasten the complete disappearance of a scandalous system is the close co-operation of the Chinese themselves. If the men who can influence public opinion will only do their fair share of the work which remains to be accomplished, the Anti-Mui T'ai Society will be soon able to look back with satisfaction upon a task well done.

POLICE METHODS IN JAPAN.

CHARGES of "extreme brutality," which have driven several persons to suicide and caused serious injuries to many others, are expected to result in a nation-wide reform in Japanese police methods shortly. The charges were made by the Japan Bar Association, following an investigation conducted by a committee of 50 of its leading members in every part of Japan. The Bar Association in its report handed to the Minister of Justice, the Home Minister and the Chief of the Procurators' Office, warned the authorities that if such methods continued they would create a widespread distrust of the law and a loss of public confidence in the integrity of the Japanese judicial system.

The investigation, revealed that following the general election last February a score or more persons suspected of violating the Election Law were tortured to force admissions of guilt. As a result several law-suits have been filed by innocent persons who were subjected to police brutality. The report declared that illegal detention has become one of the worst of all police practices. Japanese law requires that no suspected person be held for more than 24 hours unless formal charges are filed, but the investigation revealed widespread violation of this regulation by the simple expedient of releasing a suspect at the end of the 24-hour period and promptly re-arresting him on suspicion. In this way, the report said, many persons, especially radicals, suspected of harbouring "dangerous thoughts," have been illegally detained for days, weeks, and even months.

These allegations are not new. They have been the subject of protest for many years—especially when foreigners have been the victims of Japanese police methods—but until now complaints of deliberate torture have been either lightly disregarded or flatly denied without any serious attempt at investigation. Many years ago, when a large number of Koreans were arrested on a charge of conspiracy against the Governor-General, detailed allegations were made in Japan that the Japanese police officials had resorted to most violent physical torture in order to extract "voluntary confessions" from the accused. The charges were denied, of course, but the publicity given to the complaints had its effect, in spite of official denials, for about ninety of the hundred or so men accused were discharged when the case went to the Appeal Court.

The most extensive and violent "hipslapping" party ever staged by the New York prohibition agents took place on board the liner Bremen last month. As is the custom in New York, there were 1,500 passengers and about 7,000 men, women and children present to bid farewell to their friends and relations. No one suspected that there would be a search, as the Treasury ordered the "hipslapping" practice to be abolished eight months ago. Hilarious farewell cocktail parties in the cabins were rudely disturbed by Customs agents, in uniform and in plain clothes, and passengers and guests were thoroughly searched. When the agents began pulling back the coats of the women, and shaking the wraps they carried, some of their male escorts were restrained with difficulty from knocking down the searchers. Hundreds of motor-cars parked outside on the pier were also searched. Although all the liquor found was confiscated, no one was arrested.

Walter Reginald Hammond, the Gloucester and England batsman, was at Southampton fined 40s. for driving his motor-car dangerously, and 10s. for causing an excessive noise with the car and not having the identification marks easily distinguishable. A police officer estimated his speed at 40 miles an hour. Mr. G. Forbes Bassett, the magistrates' clerk, remarked, "Mr. Rogers (the prosecuting solicitor) has done something everybody cannot do: He has bowled Hammond out."

Sir Thomas Inskip, the Attorney-General in the last Government, speaking at Wansstead, Berkshire, said the present leaders of the Socialist Party were blind. Mr. Snowden said he would not allow the Safeguarding of Industries to continue. Mr. Snowden did not agree with them. It did not matter to him that the livelihood of working men and women depend upon them. If Mr. Snowden were consistent he would repeal the McKenna duties because the same arguments which he used to retain those duties would compel him to continue the Safeguarding duties.

The age-old problem of Capital and Labour is being met and solved in many ways, one of the most commendable being the graduation of workers from the ranks of the employed to those of employers. A recent illustration of this trend was the turning over by Selz, Schwab & Co., Chicago shoe manufacturers retiring from business, of one of the company's principal plants, doing a business of $8,000,000 to $8,000,000 annually to five veteran employees, who will carry on under a new name. Community of interest eventually makes itself felt over a period years.

Mr. Selim Hassan, the Egyptian excavator, who has been digging on behalf of the Egyptian University near the Cairo Pyramids, is reported to have found further objects of value at the sepulchre of Ra Wer, a prince and high priest of the Third Dynasty (about 3,000 B.C.). These discoveries include a large necklace with four coils of pearls on a mounted gold chain—consisting of 264 pearls in all—and also several necklaces coloured inscriptions. Among the stela-slabs used as grave-stones—is one measuring five feet by two and a half feet, on which it is recorded that the reigning Pharaoh, during a certain ceremony, inadvertently trod on Ra Wer's foot and begged his pardon. The high priest begged the king to inscribe the incident on a stela to be placed on Ra Wer's tomb, and this was done.

A message from Peshawar states, it is understood, that the British Legation is shortly leaving there for Kabul. It should originally have left in March, but owing to diplomatic pin-pricks by Nadir Khan, the departure was postponed. Something of a sensation among the authorities at Sopron, Hungary, has been caused by a nun applying for a motor driver's licence. Sister Hirlinda Farmandy spent ten years in America, and on setting out to return to Hungary was presented by her friends with a car worth 2,500 dollars, which she drove herself in America and from the port of her landing in Europe to Budapest. She displayed remarkable skill in handling her car and passed the driver's examination with honours.

A scar on the calf of her leg has brought Miss Josephine Sica, of New York, an award of $2,000. The disfigurement was caused by leaking acid from a bus belonging to the Public Service Co-ordinated Transport Co., whom she sued. New Jersey Supreme Court confirmed the jury award, which was not regarded as excessive. Owing to the present height of skirts and the thinness of stockings, it was held that the scar would be subject to observation, and consequently to embarrassment on the part of the plaintiff.

The President of the Swiss Confederation, M. Muey, has sent a telegram to President Hoover, drawing his attention to the effect which the new United States tariff would have on Swiss industry, and stating that the new United States Customs duties are unanimously criticized in Switzerland, and that their imposition may lead to a boycott of United States goods. He urges President Hoover to examine the position and to use his influence to maintain the good commercial relations which have so far existed between the two countries. It is hoped that this unusual step will ease the present situation, which is undoubtedly very serious, especially for the watchmaking and cotton industries.

Looking Back 25 Years.

Parts of the city were flooded yesterday morning by a deluge of rain, the drains in the low-lying areas being unable to cope with the rush of water. The water at Arsenal Street, for instance, was quite four feet deep, and Major-General Villiers-Bator was conveyed in a boat to the stairs leading up to Headquarters. A retaining wall at Mr. J. D. Stevens' house on the hill-side collapsed, considering that it was of red brick instead of the usual rubble, this was not to be wondered at. Portions of Praya East looked more like a canal than anything else. —Hong Kong Daily Press, June 2, 1905.

Looking Back 50 Years.

We learn the Tung Wah Hospital Committee received a telegram on the evening of the 28th inst. from Melbourne, requesting them to tell the Chinese not to proceed to that city, as those who had recently arrived found they had made a mistake in going there. Apparently they are not wanted in Victoria. —Hong Kong Daily Press, June 2, 1890.

PENALTIES OF ORDINANCES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Simsa, May 31.
The Viceroy's Ordinances lay down a penalty up to six months' imprisonment and fines for various offences.

Picketing Illegal.

Simsa, May 30.
Lord Irwin has issued an Ordinance to counteract picketing, non-payment of taxes and tampering with the loyalty of Government servants.

Two Ordinances have been issued by the Viceroy.
One makes picketing a penal offence, while the second makes provision against instigation to the refusal of payment of certain liabilities in connection with the No-Tax campaign.

Both Ordinances will be applied in the Bombay Presidency immediately.

Resolution Recalled.

The Ordinance against the instigation of refusal of payment of certain liabilities is entitled, "The Unlawful Instigation Ordinance, 1930."

A statement issued with the Ordinance refers to a resolution passed by the All-India Congress on the 16th instant calling on all classes to make a supreme effort to attain their goal, and continue the struggle with redoubled vigour during Gandhi's incarceration; also to inaugurate a campaign of non-payment of taxes, to intensify the salt and liquor campaigns, and to boycott British commercial institutions.

Viceroy's Appeal.

The statement says: "Clearly no Government can contemplate the non-payment of its dues." It emphasises that the Ordinance will be enforced strictly to prevent the instigation and pursuance of a political movement to refuse payments lawfully due.

The Viceroy concludes by appealing for the support of those desirous of resisting "a plain threat against orderly progress and stable government."

Preventing Intimidation.

The second Ordinance, entitled, "The Prevention of Intimidation Ordinance," is directed against picketing, including "various forms of intimidation and molestation," whereby the Indian Congress Party seek to make their will prevail.

A statement accompanying this Ordinance points out that the Ordinance is employed in the prevention of the sale of foreign goods or liquor.

The Viceroy considers it "perfectly legitimate" for anyone to urge the use of Indian goods, adding "not have I anything but respect for the preachers of temperance."

CONFLICT IN INDO-CHINA.

THREE KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED.

DEMONSTRATORS WITH "RED" SYMBOLS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Paris, May 31.
Fresh trouble has broken out in French Indo-China, the casualties being three killed and two wounded.

The conflict was between the police and 1,000 demonstrators in Chomoi, 125 miles north-west of Saigon.

The demonstrators, brandishing bamboo sticks and native knives, were led by men carrying a banner inscribed "Refusal to pay taxes."

When the police attempted to arrest the banner-bearers the crowd assumed a threatening attitude. Their response to a warning to desist was a rain of bamboo sticks, upon which the police fired a volley on the demonstrators, who fled.

Probably there were others wounded than those picked up who were hiding in neighbouring rice fields.

Tracts with the Moscow symbol of a sickle and hammer were found on the dead and wounded demonstrators.

There was another demonstration in Omon (Canton province), where a District Officer was surrounded by 1,500 natives, but he extricated himself by ordering his men to fire into the air.

Fifteen men were arrested.

COMMUNISTS ACTIVE IN KOREA.

BUILDINGS FIRED AND COMMUNICATIONS DESTROYED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, May 31.
A police communiqué states that a band of Korean Communists bombed and set fire to the Koreans' Association buildings, schools and the Japanese Consulate, and destroyed communications and electric plants at Yanki, Lungshing and several other towns in Chingai.

Chinese military and Japanese police have driven out the Communists.

ZEPPELIN DAMAGED.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

New York, May 31.
The Graf Zeppelin has arrived at Lakehurst.

It is learnt that the airship Graf Zeppelin was damaged in the course of its flight from Pernambuco to Lakehurst.

Nevertheless, the Viceroy points out that it is unlawful to enforce views "by coercive effect and fear." He also condemns "unscrupulous efforts" to induce Government servants to resign their posts and fail in their duty, and to attempt to boycott Government servants.

The Viceroy points out that the Ordinance will not be used to impede or interfere with legitimate efforts in the movement for the furtherance of indigenous enterprise, nor in connection with any genuine non-political labour dispute.

Work on the harbour has been partially resumed this morning, but the majority of the Andhra labourers are still holding out.

The Burma Indian Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution alleging that the police allowed armed Burmans to attack unarmed Indians, and disagreeing with the principle laid down by the Government of the compulsory enforcement of any particular labour on the employers demanding immediate compensation for innocent sufferers from the riots, and asking the Indians not to spend further labour to Burma.

The military situation on the Lungshai Railway line remains stagnant. The opponents are facing each other at Yehchikang, but no serious fighting has occurred during the past few days. They are taking a little rest due to demoralization after the severe fighting last week, when both sides sustained heavy losses, more especially the Nationalists.

On the Tientsin-Pukow Railway line, the Shanghai troops are besieging Tainanfu, the capital of Shantung, in three directions. There is little change on the Peking-Hankow Railway line. As to the "Ironside," they are reported to have arrived at Changsha, the capital of Hunan.

The following Chinese cables give the details of latest conditions on all the fronts.

Yen Hsi Shan is reported to have secretly arrived at Tschow, on the border of Northern Shantung, to direct his troops in order to capture Tsinanfu, which is in a state of siege. Many foreign residents have evacuated the city and taken shelter in Tsinanfu. By Yen's order, the Honanese troops under Shih Yu San have been rushed from Western Shantung to assist in the attack on Tsinanfu from the west.

Floating Corpses.

There was an exchange of gunfire across the Yellow River during the past few days. Many corpses have been seen floating on the river.

Two Shansi divisions are attacking Chouanfu, on the Kiangchow-Tsinanfu Railway line, in Shantung. The Red Spears on this railway have been recently "bought over" by Yen, at whose order, they are to attack Tsinanfu. Communication on this railway consequently has been interrupted.

Feng Yu Hsiang has ordered his troops on the Lungshai Railway to advance by another direction to attack Kweichow, on the border of Eastern Shantung. The Nationalists are reported to have retreated to Ningling to defend the place. It is reported that a number of foreign military experts are directing the Nationalists on this sector. During the week-end, 30 field-guns, 50 tanks, a great number of poison-gas bombs and many hand grenades have been taken to the front from Hsuehchow. On Friday last, 1,000 more wounded troops were taken to Nanking by rail.

The Nanking Military Headquarters have flatly denied the report that Chiang Kai Shek was wounded in the arm and that he has been taken to Nanking secretly by aeroplane. It is declared that Chiang has been directing military affairs at Hsuehchow and Kweichow.

Wu Pei Fu's New Role.

The Central Government has instructed Liu Hsiang, a loyalist general in Szechwan, to attack Wu Pei Fu and his allies, who have been instructed by Yen Hsi Shan to attack Hsuehchow in order to harass the Nanking troops in the rear.

On the Peking-Hankow Railway line, fighting has continued in Honan. After the capture of Hsuehchow, the Nationalists pushed in two directions towards Hancheng, with Chengchow as their objective. An official report from Hankow states that the fall of Hsuehchow was "due to the retreat of the troops under Fen Chung Hsiu without resistance and that Tien Chin Kai, a Kuomintang general, had a narrow escape. The report adds that the enemy troops under Chang Wei Sai have been badly beaten and that over 20 senior military officers were among the war prisoners taken by the Nationalists."

The Central Government has been greatly perturbed by the menace of the "Ironside," who are expected to give the Nationalists in the Yangtze Valley considerable trouble. Rumours are rife in Hankow that the "Ironside" have arrived on the outskirts of Changsha, the Hunan capital. The attitude of Ho Chien, the Hunan Governor, is obscure. KEEN CHINESE AND INDIAN RIVALRY.

CLOSE STRUGGLE IN TENNIS LEAGUE.

FANS DISAPPOINTED AT SOOKUNPOO.

There was great disappointment in store for the large crowd of tennis fans who made the trip to Sookunpoo on Saturday in the hope of seeing the two leading tennis clubs—Indian R.C. and Chinese R.C.—battling in the senior division of the tennis league, as, owing to some reason or other, the match was postponed. However, those that remained behind to watch the second division game between the Indians and the R.E.S.C. were provided with some excellent tennis, as the result remained in doubt until the very last round.

The Chinese Recreation Club continue to win in the "B" and "C" divisions and, incidentally, they and their Indian friends are the only undefeated teams in these sections. The game between S.C.A.A. and C.C.C. in the "B" division was postponed, Kowloon Cricket Club played their first match of the season in the senior division with the H.K.C.C. as their opponents; they won by five sets to four.

WHY INDIA TIRES LEAD in the QUALITY TIRE MARKET

Start with this cross-section of the new India Heavy Service as an example of the 1930 tire line.

- 1.—Extra heavy tread of the highest selected grades of rubber available—processed to add unusual abrasion proof qualities.
- 2.—Sidewalls protected from rut and curb wear by rugged reinforcing bars made in one piece with tread.
- 3.—Crown plies of carcass of wide spaced cord fabric instead of the cross-woven fabric ordinarily used.
- 4.—Extra heavy specially compounded cushion gum between crown plies.
- 5.—Extra heavy pure amber coloured friction around each cord and between all plies.
- 6.—Only long staple combed Egyptian cotton used.
- 7.—Cord fabrics of the finest known construction (33-5-3) give the best combination of elasticity, strength and durability.
- 8.—Strong, flexible gums at edges of flipper strips and at points of beads, give greater flexibility and less chance of heat at these vital points.
- 9.—Double beads allow unusually strong tie between beads and plies.
- 10.—Extra wide, long pointed bead seats tire firmly on rim—prevents bead rocking, bead failure and tube wear.

BOBBY JONES BEATS WETHERED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

St. Andrew's, May 31.
Bobby Jones beat Wethered 7 and 6.

Amazing scenes were witnessed, and amid the skirling of bagpipes 20,000 spectators swarmed the course in an attempt to cheer Bobby Jones, whose win was most popular, but a body of police charged down on the crowd and bore off the sunny smiling Jones to the clubhouse, where Lieut.-Col. Skene, Captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, presented the cup.

Bobby Jones, in reply, said:—"I am proud to win at St. Andrew's. I think it is the greatest course in the world."

Wethered won the first hole on a stymie, but failed at a two-foot putt for a win at the second, where Jones was four up. The third, fourth and fifth were halved. Wethered, cutting in from the rough, holed a twelve-yarder, thus getting a birdie. He had a three at the sixth, where Jones was three up, but he took three putts at the seventh, thus making Jones four up and also at the tenth, thus making Jones six up. Bobby Jones almost drove the twelfth green, and easily won the hole, where a vast crowd surged round the hole.

The scene was reminiscent of a rugby scrum, and the stewards had the greatest difficulty in clearing a space.

In spite of variable putting and an accurate approach, enabling him to return all square at 35-35. Wethered took three putts at the tenth hole. He missed an 18-inch shot and was one down. He halved the 11th, and at the 12th, had an attack of hooking and lost the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th. He was five down at the 17th. Jones bunkered on the road, missed with a two-yarder's shot, and was four down. The 18th was halved.

Wethered returned a card of—
4 4 5 4 3 4 3 4 3 5 5 5 6 4 4
Jones's card was—
4 4 4 4 4 4 3 4 3 4 4 4 4 4 4

London, May 30.
Bobby Jones is on the brink of realising his most cherished ambition of winning "his" first British amateur title.

In the semi-final to-day he defeated his fellow-countryman Voigt by one up. His display to-day, however, was not very convincing. He won the second hole, but Voigt squared matters at the fifth. Jones won the sixth hole and they turned round at the ninth all square.

Jones then gave a weak display of putting and became one down at the twelfth and two down at the thirteenth. He came back strongly, however, and won the fourteenth and sixteenth holes to square matters again. The seventeenth was halved and Jones won on the last green.

Roger Wethered beat Lester Hartley two and one. He won three out of the first five holes and turned round two up. After even play coming in, Wethered secured the important sixteenth and seventeenth holes to win the match.

The Varsity's second innings also produced a century, Grant reaching the three figures before being out. They made 242 runs with Tate (5 for 53) again coming off with the ball. The scores were—

In their second innings, Lancashire ran up 284 runs for the loss of five wickets, when they declared their innings closed. Requiring 345 runs to win, Leicester were dismissed for 184 in their second knock, Macdonald taking four wickets for 80 runs. The scores were—

EASTERN NEWS IN BRIEF.

PARS FROM EVERYWHERE.

A disastrous fire occurred in Tinchow, Fukien, last week and the damage done by it was estimated at several lakhs of dollars.

Capt. J. J. Bannison, the General Manager in the Far East of the Great Northern Telegraph Company, has been honoured by H.M. the King of Denmark, who has bestowed upon him a Commander'ship of the Royal Order of Dannebrog.

The Belgian Minister to China is reported to have sent a note to the Waichiaopu, saying that his Government has agreed to China's proposal to use the Belgian portion of the returned Boxer Indemnity for the construction and repair of the Lunghai Railway.

The Mayor of Greater Shanghai has received orders from the Administrative Yuan to notify his subordinates that they must not resign from office whenever an old superior official leaves or when a new one arrives. This, it is said, is a bad practice and must be discouraged.

Acting under orders from the National Opium Suppression Commission, the Mayor of Greater Shanghai has instructed the Commission of Public Health for the City Government to establish clinics in different parts of the Municipality for the treatment of opium addicts.

Members of the water police department of the Bureau of Public Safety for Greater Shanghai made a big seizure of munitions last week from a sampan near the China Merchants Lower Wharf. Fifty pistols and 5,200 rounds of ammunition were seized, and a Chinese on the sampan was arrested.

It is learned that the Ministry of Communications will put into circulation this month a series of stamps bearing the portraits of eight revolutionary martyrs, including General Huang Hsing, General Chen Chi Mei, Mr. Sung Chiao Jen, Mr. Liao Chung Hoi and Mr. Chu Chi Cheng.

The National Government last week issued a mandate saying that no loans, contracts or agreements made by General Yen Hui Shan in his "bogus" title of Commander-in-Chief will be recognized as valid, and banks or shops granting loans to the northern rebels do so on their own responsibility and will be dealt with accordingly.

Many petitions have been received by the National Association Chambers of Commerce from Chinese merchants in Outer Mongolia, complaining of the illegal confiscation of their properties by the Soviet authorities in that province and requesting the Central Government to uphold China's prestige by sending troops to preserve China's territorial integrity.

The engagement is announced of Dr. R. A. M. Scott, Church of Scotland Mission, Ichang, daughter of the Rev. Thomas Scott, Laurence Kirk, Scotland, and Mr. F. A. Brown, of the Asiatic Petroleum Company, Ichang, son of the Rev. Fred Brown, for thirty years with the Methodist Episcopal Mission in Tientsin and Peking, and now resident at Purley, Surrey, England.

General Chang Chih Kiang, chairman of the National Opium Suppression Commission, has drawn the attention of the Central Government to the smuggling of opium by employees of the railways and shipping companies and asking that steps be devised to stop this corrupt practice. The Commissioner of Civil Affairs for Kiangsu has taken the matter up.

Following an appeal from the postal workers, the authorities in Shanghai have agreed to grant allowances of $2 per month to employees receiving wages between $50 and $80 per month and $3 per month to employees receiving less than $50 per month. The issue of these allowances is conditional to the price of average quality rice being above $18 per picul.

Claiming that the creation of a Labour Arbitration Board by the Shanghai Municipal Council is an encroachment on China's sovereignty and that it shows the disrespect in which the Chinese Government is held by the Council, the second branch of the District Kuomintang has issued a declaration calling upon the people to oppose the proposal, and to prevent its creation so as to uphold China's prestige, reports the Chinese Press.

Apocryphal of the Reuter telegram of May 18 concerning a mysterious vessel carrying $250,000 worth of opium to the Far East, the Chinese Press reports that reliable information on this matter has been received by the National Anti-Opium Association from South Fukien. According to this information, the Chinese Press says, the opium in question was purchased by a Kwangtung merchant and is due to arrive in Amoy in the near future. Customs and naval authorities of Amoy have been requested by the Association to keep a sharp lookout for the smugglers of the latter attempt to smuggle the drug to that port.
